

Did you know that most people spend more time planning their vacation than they do their financial future? Hi, I'm Nathan Cowen wealth manager with SVA Plumb Financial. Over my 22 years in the financial services industry I've been able to speak to many organizations, both professionals and individuals. Topics have ranged from retirement and education planning, to protecting estates from creditors and the government, appropriate investment selection and even general current stock market updates. Now I'm passionate about what I do. I often tell people where my workday ends and my hobby begins is one in the same. So if you're looking for a speaker who can help demystify the financial planning process, I'd welcome the opportunity to speak to your organization. Please contact speaker source.
