

Did you know that only twenty-six percent of Americans have an estate plan in place? That means you work your entire life to build your assets to leave a legacy and then you neglect to plan. You neglect to plan for those assets, for your business, for your family. Failure to plan can be the result of many things. It could be fear, it could be that you don't know what your next step is, it could be that you have a family situation and you really don't know how to plan around that.

Hello, my name is Tammy Parks and I'm with SVA Plumb Trust Company. I can help you. For over 25 years I've worked either as an estate planning attorney in private practice or as a trust officer. Failure to plan can be very common, but it doesn't have to be common for you. I can help you demystify many of the components and help you understand and build the better plan for you and your family. If you would like for me to come and speak with your group, please contact SVA Speaker Source. Thank you.
